

MEP Healthcare

With national leaders active in American Society of Heating, Refrigerating and Air-Conditioning Engineers, Inc. (ASHRAE) and The National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) healthcare committees, we bring state-of-the-art expertise in hospital engineering. Our group has specialized in healthcare design for more than 30 years.

With our hands-on experience in field observations, system assessments, and troubleshooting, we can help minimize operation and maintenance costs while achieving performance objectives.

“It’s the untold stories that we celebrate

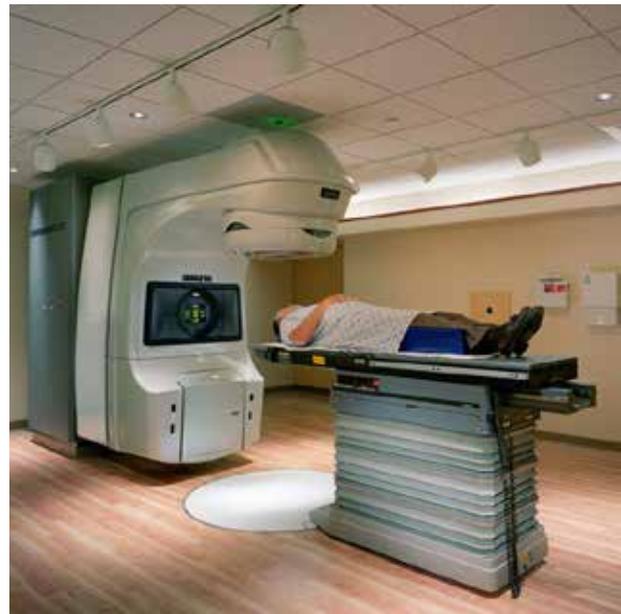

—and to those of you behind the scenes to make this possible—my wholehearted thanks. It’s your passion and your commitment to the client that I applaud. You should be proud. It is a wonderful achievement. Thanks for making a great project even greater.”

Thomas Cavender, PE, CHFM
Vice President, Facilities & Construction
WakeMed Health & Hospitals

We are proficient in engineering systems that integrate well with the architectural elements while still meeting the demanding performance requirements of the healthcare environment.

We are successful at meeting the challenges of schedules, budgets, operational reliability, and energy efficiency.
